Soldiers recover in record time

Atheletes get back in the game

Seniors enjoy an active lifestyle

A Few Success Stories

A soldier had seven operations on his wrist for a war injury that sliced his nerve and tendons. He developed a severely painful condition known as Reflex Sympathetic Dystrophy. He could not even allow a shirt sleeve to touch his wrist and he was on chronic pain medications. His hand was white, swollen, and he had movement of only his thumb and index finger. After treatment with the Tennant Biomodulator®, the soldier stated that he could move his fingers and the pain was gone. Treatment occurred within a Military facility in Texas. Soldier requested further drug-free treatments with the Tennant Biomodulator®.

Patient diagnosed with a crushed tibia. Original prognosis: six to eight weeks of recovery time before attempting to walk. After three weeks of treatments with the Tennant Biomodulator® therapy, patient entered physical therapy to begin to walk. The final X-rays showed rebuilt solid bone where it had been crushed.

A 60 year old patient had the neck fused. Patient continued to have chronic pain and could only rotate the neck a few degrees to the left and right. After being treated with the Tennant Biomodulator®, the patient stated he could turn his neck normally and the pain was 90% reduced.

Biomodulator® PLUS Operating Modes

The Tennant Biomodulator® PLUS includes advanced frequency sets unavailable in any other TENS or biofeedback type of device. The Tennant Biomodulator® has four selectable operating modes and a Pause mode. The four modes of operation include:

- Assess
- Ten-8™
- Infinity™
- Automatic

Use of the MODE button facilitates easy selection of the desired operating mode (blue LEDs).

Assess Mode

Assess mode is used by the health care practitioner or user to determine the initial assessment at the position of contact on the patient. Initial assessment indicators (green, pink, red, yellow and orange LEDs) offer objective information for energetic analysis. When the device is not touching the skin, the indicators are not illuminated. When the device is placed on the skin, the health care practitioner or user may use the initial assessment indicator LEDs to determine treatment location.

Ten-8™ Mode

Ten-8™ mode is used for symptomatic relief of chronic, intractable pain. The specific pattern of the Ten-8™ pulse train was defined, patent pending, and trademarked by Jerry Tennant, MD.

Infinity™ Mode

Infinity™ mode is used for symptomatic relief of chronic, intractable pain and post-surgical/post-traumatic pain. The specific pattern of the Infinity™ pulse train was developed, patent pending, and trademarked by Jerry Tennant, MD.

Automatic Mode

This frequency setting combines the use of the Assess and Infinity Modes. Place the device on the appropriate treatment area. It automatically detects the electromagnetic potential of the surrounding tissue. If the reading indicates the need, the device begins an interactive Tennant Biomodulation™ protocol with those modes until the treatment cycle ends. The user may wait for one minute until the device has cycled back to "ready for next reading." Alternatively, the user may press the MODE key to clear the therapy session for the next reading.

Pause Mode

When the device settings have not changed for 60 minutes, the device becomes idle and automatically invokes the PAUSE mode. To re-activate the device, simply press the + or power key one time, or turn the device OFF and ON again.
